SANTA BARBARA ESSENTIALS

Enamored with her charming neighborhood, designer ELIZABETH VALLINO strolls lower Anacapa Street for her inspired interiors. The SoCal native shares her secret hangs for a cup o' joe and antique textiles by the mile.

MUST DOS My new favorite coffee shop is THE FRENCH PRESS, 805-962-7733. I love the outdoor seating, and they play the best music, including my favorite band, The National. • The best lunch in the neighborhood: the signature grilled cheese sandwich with classic tomato soup at C'EST CHEESE, 805-965-0318, cestcheese.com. • ANDREE ARENO is a fine woodworker who makes beautiful bespoke furniture. Her Anacapa Street studio, 805-319-0166, is where her father, the celebrated local painter Joe Areno, also had a studio for many years. • SANTA BARBARA FORGE AND IRON, 805-965-7111, sbforge.com, breathed new life into the old Craviotto brothers building at the corner of Anacapa and Ortega streets, resurrecting a business and a building that was left empty for years. —DAWN MOORE

DESIGNER
SPOTLIGHT

According to erstwhile Wall Street financier turned interior designer CHRISTINA ROTTMAN, 805-565-8537, christinarottmandesigns.com, yin meets yang this year with masculine lines tamed by a velvet glove. What to look for? Fashion-driven, patterned, vibrant, and glossy interiors. -D.M.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: Coral chandelier, price upon request, Moth Design, mothdesign.com; collage including purple barnacle, vintage ceramic object, vintage brass bud vase, Chapas woven textile, de Gournay New Delhi silk velvet; Nova mirror, price upon request, Ironies, ironies.com; purple and orange handpainted wallpapers, $1,365 per panel, Gracie, graciestudio.com.

“In 2013, we see DECOR TRENDS going back to FEMININE lines of the early to mid-20th century, while architecture is proudly MODERN, BOLD, AND STRONG.” —CHRISTINA ROTTMAN

ONE TO WATCH

RECLAIMED WOOD from deconstructed barns and factories makes for some pretty soulful seating. Recently opened on State Street, Industry Home, 805-845-5780, industry-home.com, is a new retail space by Brothers of Industry co-owners Andrew and Peter Hernandez. With local designer Hayley Bridges on board, the two-year-old firm—offering custom consoles and dining tables (from $650) crafted from wide-plank white oak, beech, and hemlock—has also ramped up its custom lighting designs (from $90) and added a collection of reclaimed wood cutting boards, knife racks, and other kitchen trinkets (from $20). Their passion for preservation proves these brothers are the real deal. -D.M.

MODERN MASTER

KNOWN FOR HIS PASSION for contemporary architecture, BARRY BERKUS's work is showcased in many homes and buildings in Santa Barbara and worldwide. For more than 45 years, he expressed his ideas through his custom design business, B3 Architects, and Berkus Design Studio, which focuses on production housing ideas. High ceilings and open spaces were signature elements of Berkus's aesthetic, which earned him about 450 awards during his lifetime. Berkus, who passed away last year, was also known for his exquisite art collection and was most recently honored with the Grand Award for building industry community spirit and the Merit Award for Educational Project at the Children's Museum of Santa Barbara. -JULIANNE KUSKEY

POWER COUPLE Designer/builder duo Kirsten (pictured) and Darrell Becker of Becker Studios, 805-965-9555, beckerstudiosinc.com, create serene spaces with soulful nuances. A grand piano, stacks of books, or wacky flea market treasures find their way in harmonious style. "I love something just a little out of place," says Kirsten, who is known for her impressive yet low-cost approach to furnishing spaces, all while keeping the property owner's vision in mind. -D.M.

"I like ORDER—SIMPLICITY and FORM in its purest fashion."

ABOVE: "No matter how contemporary or modern a design, I love a smattering of throw pillows like the ones from Cabana Home in this window seat."
